IMI programs are developed nationally and delivered locally. Centralized development and delivery of key programs ensures uniformity of IMI's core missions in training, education and technical support.

Many programs, including Instructor Certification, Contractor College, Supervisor Certification, craftworker upgrades and certifications are examples of programs that are delivered at the national level and provide benefits to all of us in our local areas.

Flagship programs at The Flynn Center—such as Masonry Camp, new product research, constructability research, major account outreach and education—keep union masonry in the forefront. These are complimented by other comprehensive programs such as building codes and standards activity, the Masonry Detailing Series, Technology Briefs, Case Studies, the Life Cycle Analysis Software and many other programs that provide local benefits.

All IMI programs share one common goal, expanding the union masonry industry.
