The International Masonry Institute, a strategic alliance of the International Union of Bricklayers and Allied Craftworkers (BAC) and signatory contractors, offers: skilled training, technical assistance and market development services.

The IMI approach to training is unparalleled. Programs offered at the national, regional and local level provide career-long learning opportunities for BAC members, from pre-job classes to cross-craft and skills upgrades, and even custom needs.

The only national training network for all the masonry crafts, IMI is the one place offering everything, for every craft:

Tile Brick Stone Marble
Plaster Cement Terrazzo Restoration

The centerpiece of the IMI training network is the John J. Flynn BAC/IMI International Training Center. This 25-acre campus in Maryland serves the training and educational needs of craftworkers, contractors, instructors, architects, engineers and construction managers, offering:

- Workforce Solutions
- Continuing Education
- National Certifications
- Safety Training
- Specialty Training
- Supervisor Certification
- Contractor College
- Masonry Camp
- Constructability Research
- New Products Evaluation and Expos
- Instructor Certification Program (ICP)
